

Summary of Qualifications

Motivated, results-driven problem solver who possesses excellent skills in market analysis, direct marketing, customer relationship management, and interpersonal communication. Extremely proficient in administration and implementation of variable data programs, sales consultation, Internet technologies, and marketing collateral materials that anticipate and capitalize on market trends in order to maximize results. Proven ability to continuously learn and apply knowledge for accomplishing any task efficiently and effectively, therefore benefiting clients which in turn benefits the organization.